are good sellers and are inexpensive. Kids can change out the look and style of their skates very inexpensively; we just added four new laces to our line-up. They are black and have neon colors on the sides of the laces, and under the black lights they glow."

Hanson added that with the ever-increasing popularity of roller derby, owners looking to update their pro shops should consider carrying protective gear for roller derby athletes. More often than not, roller derby team members have to buy their gear online because few businesses carry it, he said.

"Customers will lose interest if you aren't looking to offer new gear," Hanson said. "Keep it new and they will keep coming back."

Pa. Rink shows off winner in 'Enlist to Win' Sweepstakes

From Roberta Molero, The Skatery, Pillow, Pa.

Margo Kessler, second from left, was March' Enlist to Win winner from the Skatery in Pennsylvania. Kessler, surrounded by her friends, receives her iPod Touch prize from her mother. Skatery operator Roberta Molero said, "She was in shock! It's a good thing she managed to get here, I was bursting, trying to keep it a secret!"
